

Alaska

First Iditarod Trail

Hunters – Terry Wailed and Al Olgren

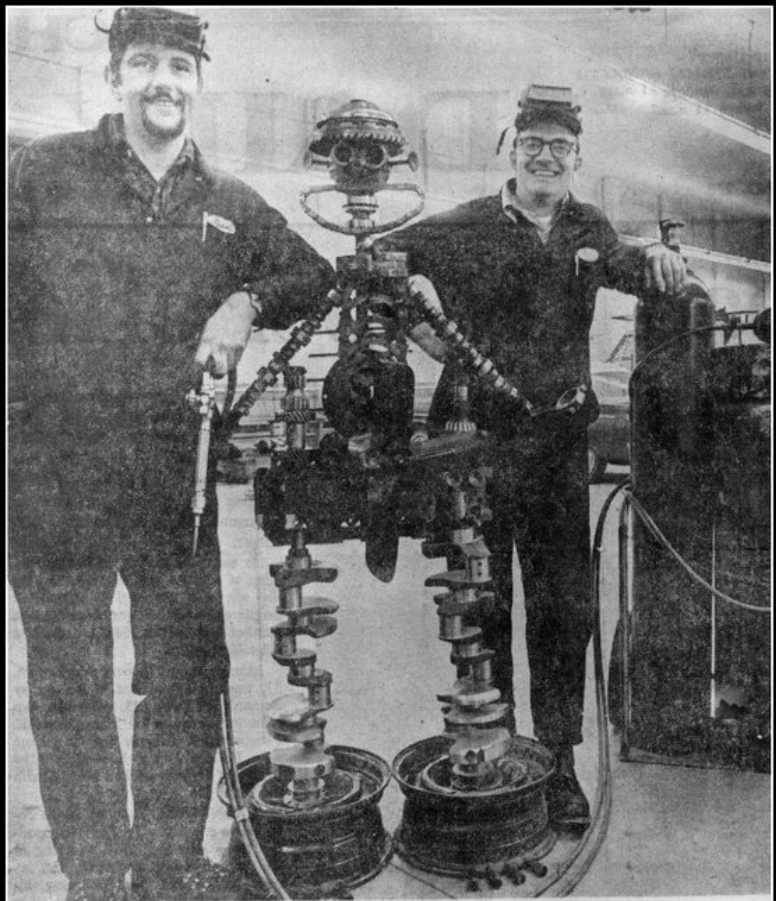

Winter 'cache'

Meet Ralph

Meet Ralph

Crankshaft legs, camshaft arms, a timing chain smile and a head that rotates on roller bearings. That's Ralph, the 300-pound scrap autopart sculpture poised between his creators Leon Leoni, left, and Ralph Godwin. The two men, who are enrolled in the automotive technician program at Anchorage Community College, chose the sculpture as a project in technology as applied art. "It's a throwaway world," Leoni said. He says the sculpture shows man's ability and ability to recycle things, even if it's junked auto parts.

Kathryn Ann Leoni

New Born, Five Months, Ten Months, One Year

Summer in Alaska

Berry Picking

Growing Corn in five weeks

Checking out the bears with friends

Picnicking

Winter in Anchorage

Jason and Sherry Byrne with Katie
Playing during Spring Breakup

